Medicaid Business Segment
Medically Necessary — A service, item, procedure, or level of care that is necessary for the proper treatment or management of an illness, injury, or disability is one that:

- Will, or is reasonably expected to, prevent the onset of an illness, condition, injury or disability.
- Will, or is reasonably expected to, reduce or ameliorate the physical, mental or developmental effects of an illness, condition, injury or disability.
- Will assist the Member to achieve or maintain maximum functional capacity in performing daily activities, taking into account both the functional capacity of the Member and those functional capacities that are appropriate for Members of the same age.

DESCRIPTION:
Cutaneous vascular lesions are the most common pediatric birthmarks. They are classified as either hemangiomas or vascular malformations. Pulsed Dye Lasers are most commonly used to treat hemangiomas and vascular malformations. Pulsed dye lasers use a yellow light beam with wavelengths ranging from 585nm-600nm. The superficial laser penetrates between .75 mm-1.5mm into the skin and is absorbed by the blood vessels and the abnormal ones are destroyed leaving the surrounding skin unharmed.

INDICATIONS: Pulsed dye laser treatment of cutaneous vascular lesions: e.g. port-wine stain, complicated hemangioma, spider angioma with a feeder arteriole is considered medically necessary when any of the following conditions apply:

For treatment of Hemangiomas:
- The hemangioma is compromising vital structures (e.g., nose, eyes, ears, lips or larynx).
- The hemangioma is symptomatic (e.g., bleeding, painful, ulcerated, subject to recurrent infection).
- The hemangioma is associated with Kasabach-Merritt Syndrome.
- The hemangioma is pedunculated.

For treatment of Port Wine Stains:
- The lesion results in bleeding or painful nodules.
- The patient is at risk for development of glaucoma (e.g., Sturge-Weber Syndrome, lesions that are located on the eyelids or the forehead)

EXCLUSIONS:
For members over age 18 years, initiation of laser treatment of cutaneous vascular lesions that do not interfere with physical body function or without manifestation of complications such as hypertrophy and pyogenic granuloma formation is considered cosmetic and is NOT COVERED.

In the absence of impairment of physiologic function, laser treatment of Rosacea is considered cosmetic and therefore NOT COVERED.

Laser treatment of telangiectasia is considered cosmetic and therefore not covered.

The treatment of cutaneous vascular lesions from which no significant improved physiologic function is achieved is considered cosmetic and is NOT COVERED.

Medicaid Business Segment:
Any requests for services, that do not meet criteria set in the PARP, may be evaluated on a case by case basis.

Note: A complete description of the process by which a given technology or service is evaluated and determined to be experimental, investigational or unproven is outlined in MP 15 - Experimental Investigational or Unproven Services or Treatment.
