

We want to protect you – and everyone else.

That's why we're temporarily suspending all routine,
in-person visits to our hospitalized patients.

Visitors* are only allowed for patients who:

- Are medically unstable, are giving birth, have had surgery or are at the end of life
- Are minors or have limited decisional capacity
- Have altered mental status or developmental delays or exhibit disruptive behavior

If you're visiting one of these patients, here's what to know:

- Be healthy – don't visit if you have fever, cough or shortness of breath.
- Stay in the patient's room the entire visit. Once you leave the room, you must leave the medical center.
- Don't visit if you've traveled internationally or to the New York or Seattle metropolitan areas or been exposed to someone with COVID-19 or flu-like symptoms in the past 14 days.
- You must be age 18 or older.

If you have an appointment at a Geisinger clinic, laboratory or radiology, or if you're visiting the Emergency Department, you may have one person accompany you, if necessary.

*Number of visitors varies according to patient's medical/mental/behavioral condition and age.

Visitors under 18 allowed in extraordinary circumstances.
